SUMMARY OF ST. LOUIS MARKES.

That small contingent of traders who have been trying to bull May wheat for little usolation in yesterday's local speculative market. Early in the session it bege ap parent that foreign traders were not inclined to follow a manipulative lead evet the hest of so strong a persuader as Armour. Liverpool opened unexpectedly wealespite he rejection of unfavorable Argentine advices. The strong local argument was tre-clots here were heavy and that there was little or no outside demand so far axild be judged by commission-house orders. The world's visible showed a decrease, but leated an increase at points other than those included in the regular visible.

Tracking was at no time heavy. The feeling was easy until the last hour, withere as enough covering to hold the market barely steady at Monday's figures Corn receipts were moderate and this grain was in better shape than wheat.fter a ather weak opening there was a good rally. There was a fair export inquiry, alt was id that there was a searchy of cars to carry the corn contracted for to the seabd.

There was not much encouragement for he bulls in yesterday's local grain market. Many traders learned the wholecome leason that it takes more than a Chicago b'uff to but the market up here, when legitimate onditions are bearish. Wheat closed unchanged, and the gain corn made was only fractional. Liverpool opened weak and receipts were again large at St. Louis and other Western points. Predictions of colder weather and a new batch of Armour stories caused occasional railies, but the big profesonals were out, and late buying was merey sufficient to hold speculative value
